

Dr. Kelley Moseley

Keynote Address:

Initiating and Evaluating Innovative Programs that Address Needs of the Elderly

Kelley Moseley, MBA, DrPH

Professor, Health Care Administration

Texas Woman's University and University of Houston

Dr. Moseley received his DrPH from the University of Texas Health Science Center, School of Public Health. Since 1977, he has served as Professor of health care administration at both the University of Houston and Texas Woman's University. He has extensive background in elder care issues as a licensed nursing home administrator for many years and as a national and international consultant. He also teaches a course in long term care administration at the graduate level for both nursing and health science students. Dr. Moseley has over 100 publications and presentations and has provided planning and administrative technical assistance for over 150 organizations locally, nationally, and internationally. He has also served as the President of The American College of Health Care Executives – Houston Chapter and currently serves on that Board.